1	It is proposed to organize sessions on Research Methodology and Research Writing Ethics to equip students with essential skills and knowledge for conducting ethical and high-quality research for Master students.	Research Methodology and Research Writing Ethics are already integral components of the M.Pharm curriculum. In addition, we are organizing expert-led sessions to further enhance students' understanding and application of these critical areas in their research work.
2	Integrate pharmaceutical industry challenges into the M.Pharm curriculum helps students develop practical problem-solving skills.	We will certainly incorporate pharmaceutical industry challenges into the M.Pharm curriculum.
